

Modulo Jean Monnet "EuPlaw"

with the scientific support of "Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche"
Istituto per i Sistemi Agricoli e Forestali del Mediterraneo

Summer School 2015 Individual's Status and EU integration process

The Summer school in the second year aims at providing a basic knowledge of the main steps of European integration through typical instrument of private Law. Lectures (42 hours) aim to ground the basis to understand how in the European Union, and in the EU legal system, new governing models are emerging as a complementary or alternative response to legislative harmonization. EU legislation follows a vertical partition in terms of economic sectors, abandoning traditional divisions between public and private law. (First year Summer School 2014: Instruments of private law as incentives of the regional process in European Union)

The EuPlaw Summer School 2015 will provide answers to following research questions: has the process of EU integration changed juridical traditional definition of Individual status? EU law impacts on traditional legal status (i.e. status of parent and child, workers' family members, status of partner, status of wife, status of husband). It also creates a new legal status connected with economic rules, market organisation and free circulation (f.i. status of consumer, status of producer, status of a farmer, status family member, etc.). The UE legislator introduces or amends laws ordering them on the status of whom law's addressed to. The Idea underpinning the Summer school is studies on the drivers of various forms of EU Law have an impact on individual's position, and under this perspective, aims at assessing the role of individual's status in process of EU integration. And citizenship status, free movement, individual well-being in regional migration flows in the light of income distribution and sustainability of national welfare states. In the scenario of full implementation of EU citizenship status, what are the consequences of the freedom of movement on the well-being of individuals and the sustainability of national welfare states

Next Summer School 2016: Regulatory functions of the contract in the EU Legal system

18-30 May 2015 – Department of Law – University of Perugia

18 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

Welcome address, prof. Andrea Sassi
(Phd Coordinator - University of Perugia)

Welcome address of "Ufficio Infrastrutture produttive e reti di imprese" of Umbria Regional authority, dott.ssa Raffaella Diosono

11,30 - 12,30

Keynote Lecture (Prof. Antonio Palazzo – University of Perugia)

The international Conventions on the status of citizenship

12,30 - 13,30

Opening Lecture

(Valentina Colcelli, Module Leader – University of Perugia)

13,30 - 15,30

Status in Roman Law

(Andrea Triscioglio – University of Torino)

19 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

The concept of the Status from Medieval age to the Second World War

(Andrea Triscioglio – University of Torino)

11,30 - 13,30

Status in Italian legal system

(Andrea Sassi – University of Perugia)

20 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

Post-Communist Countries, constitutional idea of individual legal status

(Ekaterina Cardone and Nevila Shaja – University of Regensburg) and

"Individualizations" a trend of the European constitutions

(Rainer Arnold – University of Regensburg)

11,30 - 13,30

Common Law and meaning of individual legal status (I part)

(Hedley Christ, teacher staff member – University of Brighton)

21 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

EU citizenship as fundamental EU individual legal status

(Valentina Colcelli – University of Perugia)

11,30 - 13,30

Post-Communist Countries, constitutional idea of individual legal status

(Ekaterina Cardone and Nevila Shaja – University of Regensburg)

22 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

Status in the Civil law framework

(Francesco Scaglione – University of Perugia)

11,30 - 13,30

Common Law and meaning of individual legal status (II part)

(Hedley Christ, teacher staff member – University of Brighton)

25 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

Individual Legal Status European Union process of integration
(Valentina Colcelli – University of Perugia)

11,30 - 13,30

Status of Consumer protection in the ECJ'S case (I part)

(Joaquín Sarrión – University of Valencia)

26 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

Familia, matrimonio y Constitución en España

(Pedro Julio Tenorio – Universidad Nacional de Educación a Distancia, Madrid)

11,30 - 13,30

Status of Consumer protection in the ECJ'S case (II part)

(Joaquín Sarrión – University of Valencia)

27 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

Subsidiary Status as a tool for Vernacularising Refugee Law in Malta (I part)

(David E. Zammit, teacher staff member – University of Malta)

11,30 - 13,30

Roots and Challenges of a European Citizenship:

EU Enlargement Policy as Model Fixing Agent

(Cristina Blanco Sio-López – European University Institute)

28 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

Subsidiary Status as a tool for Vernacularising Refugee Law in Malta (II part)

(David E. Zammit, teacher staff member – University of Malta)

11,30 - 13,30

Factors and Patterns of Intra-European Migration:

Insights from a EU Southern and Eastern Dimension

(Cristina Blanco Sio-López – European University Institute)

29 May 2015

9,30 - 11,30

EU Individual legal status: the new deal between voluntary adhesion and "functionalization"

(Valentina Colcelli – University of Perugia)

11,30 - 13,30

Impacto de la unificación del Derecho europeo en América Latina: problemas, ventajas y desafíos

(John Albert Tito Añamuro – Universidad del Norte - Colombia)

30 May 2015

12,30 - 13,30

Conclusion

(Roberto Cippitani - Jean Monnet Chair TeKla University of Perugia)

Scientific Board: Rainer Arnold, Roberto Cippitani, Valentina Colcelli,

Mario Álvarez Manuel Alexandro Munive Páez Ledesma,

Antonio Palazzo, Andrea Sassi, Francesco Scaglione

General Information:

For further information please contact us at: valentina.colcelli@gmail.com

To Apply to the EuPLaw Summer School please send an email to: valentina.colcelli@gmail.com

Registration Deadline is 12pm on Friday 8 May 2015

No Registration fees

Further details, including information for accommodation, can be obtained from Dott. Valentina Colcelli: valentina.colcelli@gmail.com

Location: Department of Law, via Pascoli 33, 06123, Perugia, ITALY

Visit the website: <http://www2.ec.unipg.it/euplaw/index.html>

Follow us on

